WILSON APPEARS BEFORE CONGRESS TO READ TERMS OF ACCEPTED ARMISTICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.- The strictly military terms of the armistice are embraced in eleven specifications which include the evacuation of all invaded territories, withdrawal of German troops from the left bank of the Rhine and the surrender of all supplies of war. The terms also provide for the abandonment by Germany of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk.

It is stipulated that the immediate evacuation of Belgium, France, Alsace-Lorraine, and Luxemberg shall be begun and that it shall be completed within fourteen days, at the end of which time all German troops which have not left will become prisoners of war. Occupation by the Allies and the United States shall keep pace with the evacuation.

The naval terms provide for the surrender of one hundred and sixty submarines, fifty destroyers, six battle cruisers, ten battleships, eight light cruisers and other miscellaneous thips.

Besides the surrender of one hundred and sixty submarines it is required that all the others have their crews paid off and be put out of commission and pleased under the supervision of the American naval forces.

All allied vessels in German hands are to be surrendered and Germany must notify all neutrals they are free to trade at once on the seas with the allied countries.

Among the financial terms are included restitution for damage done by the Germans, restitution for each taken from the National Bank of Belgium and the return of gold taken from Russian and Russassan banks.

The military terms include the surrender of five thousand guns (haif field and haif light artiflery), thirty thousand machine gums, three thousand flame throwers and two throward airplanes, the surrender of five thousand locumotives, fifty thousand wagens, ten thousand motor lorries, the railways of Alsace-Lorraine for use by the Alber and stores of coal and

The armistice is for thirty days, but President Wilson spoke of the war as coming to an end in his introductory remarks to Congress.

German troops are to retire at once from any territory held by Russia, Rumania and Turkey before the war. The Allied forces are to have access to evacuated territory either through the Dadrizig or by the River Vistula.

Unconditional capitulation of all German forces in East Africa within a month is provided. Freedom of access to the Baltic Sea, with power to occupy

German ports in the Kattegat is also stipulated. It is provided that the Germans must also reveal the location of all poisoned wells and like agencies of destruction, and the Allied blockade remains unchanged during the armistice. These are the high spots of the terms as President Wilson read them to Congress. Germany's acceptance he said signalized the end of the war because it made her powerless to renew it.

All forts on the Black Sea occupied by the Germans are to be surrendered and Russian war vessels recently taken by the German naval forces must also be given to the Allies. .

The President made it plain that the nations which have overthrown the military masters of Germany will now attempt to guide the German people safely to a family of nations of democracy.
